

it pays to learn

ULRs Take Up Online Learning

learnirect scotland has been working with SQA to re-design the Professional Development Award (PDA) in Learning Centre Operations and this was successfully validated last year.

The course is aimed at operational learning centre staff who also offer support to learners in their learning centres and we are delighted that 12 places have been taken up by the trade union network. ULRs from USDAW, CWU, Unite and GMB have recently started this course which is being delivered online with support from a training provider and a workplace mentor. It is anticipated that it will take around six months to complete and will hopefully assist the unions involved in developing their learning centres even further.

If anyone would like more information about this course you can contact partners@ilascotland.org.uk.